The vast Pacific Ocean covers a third of our planet. It is home to extensive varieties of life, both above and below the waters. The Polynesians have lived on islands in the ocean for over 1000 years, and were once the largest seafaring people on earth. They affectionately and fittingly call the sea their basis of life and mother. But how do they get the supplies they need, being isolated in the middle of the ocean? Most goods are transported by ship – such as the Aranui, which sails to the furthest and wildest islands of Polynesia: The Marquesas. Every two weeks, the Aranui sets sail to provide the people with all the goods they need, such as food, bicycles, toiletries, exercise books, and cookies. Come meet the people living on these remote islands and find out how it's all done.

Episodes:

1. From Tahiti To The Marquesas
2. From The Marquesas To Bora Bora

One Year in Norway's Lofoten

4K

- > 2 x 45' (ENG)
- > 2020
- > Alfred Film, NDR, Filmfond North, North Norwegian Film Center

Far above the arctic circle, in the North of Norway lies a group of islands called Lofoten. It has been dubbed "one of the most beautiful places on earth" by countless travelers. At 69 degrees north, Lofoten is also an area with one of the most extreme natural environments on the planet. But for ages, small fishing villages and communities have insisted on surviving between the tall mountains and wild ocean. Few places are so formed by nature as Lofoten, representing a lifestyle soon forgotten – one where nature decides. The two-parter gives a unique portrait of Lofoten, through its people and their life in dialogue with nature through Winter, Spring, Summer and Autumn.

An epic documentary about the journey of a Swedish training sailing ship through the Mediterranean Sea in the early 60s: From the Côte d'Azur and the coast of Greece to the Pyramids of Egypt. The very light 70mm camera, which was constructed for this film, allowed spectacular shots - attached to a race car during a Formula 1 race in Monaco or on top of the pyramids of Egypt. Flying Clipper contains some of the most spectacular footage of the 1960's and it has now been digitally restored in 4K.

The Story of German Beer

4K

› 52' (ENG), 45' (GER) › 2016 › TVNTV

Prince Luitpold of Bavaria: if Germany were still a monarchy, he would be the King of Bavaria. What does this have to do with beer? His Highness brewed one of the best beers in Bavaria. It's no wonder that he does, since it was one of his ancestors that introduced the Reinheitsgebot (German purity law) in 1516. The only ingredients permitted are hops, malt and water. 500 years of pure beer. This documentary looks at the history of beer starting with the Sumerians who invented it 5,000 years ago. Prost!

The characteristic tufts of hair on their ears make the lynx one of the most recognizable felines in the animal kingdom. The charismatic cats are generally quite shy, but very curious about the world around them. With the help of local rangers and 15 cameras set up in the Bohemian forest, we are able to track the lynxes and observe their every move – such as a hunt during night, or even the intimate hours during mating season. For the lynx, the environment around them is used to their advantage, like the long grass to sneak on prey, or even using the trees to sharpen their claws. With an arsenal of skills at their disposal, the lynx is an exceptional hunter.

Dark green, impenetrable forests cover a landscape with secluded valleys and rugged mountain ridges. 2.000 rivers and streams dig deep into the underground and transport their water into reservoirs or "Germany's Wild Amazon", the Wupper. These forests and rivers, together with heathlands and moors, are home to a diverse fauna. Martens, badgers, wild boars, hares, roe deer, red deer and wild boars, even black grouse and hazel deer find shelter in these parts. Wolves have also a dominant presence, not to mention those who live underground. Accompany us on a journey where we explore every corner of this rugged land. Climb underground into the Bergisches Land, through the vast hidden cave systems that sprawl far beneath the forests.

In the open wilderness of Africa, there are only 20,000 lions living a free life. In the last decade, humans have killed hundreds of thousands—mostly for purely hunting purposes. In recent years, canned hunting, where animals are bred for 4-5 years then released into a confined area, then killed for sport has become the trend. The trophy is the corpse of the dead lion. This documentary describes the still legal industry of lion-killing in South Africa and delves into the work of the animal preservationists of Lionsrock. Lionsrock, which was created as a refuge to these big cats, is led by the global animal protection organization Four Paws. The animals that take refuge in this sanctuary have usually escaped captivity in zoos, circuses or private holdings, where they have lived in terrible conditions. Four Paws have since 2007 saved the lives of many lions and still do so today.
