Against All Odds

4K

› 55' (ENG) › 2023 › OUP, Gingers Media, Illuminated Content, USAID

This is the modern day story of David and Goliath: the world expected Ukraine to fall within 72 hours of the Russian offensive. Instead, in defiance, the Ukrainians stopped Russia's blitzkrieg in its tracks. This is the story of how David wielded his slingshot.

While leading military experts predicted Kyiv would fall within days, the country got together to fight off the Russian aggression. This war also opened up opportunities for Ukraine to finally be heard by foreign partners and the international community.

"Against All Odds" seeks to find answers to the question of why and how Ukraine managed to withstand the first months of war against Russia.

Despite the enemy claiming to be the second largest army in the world, Ukraine resisted and is still standing.

Weaponized Wheat

› 45' (ENG, GER)

› 2022

› WDR

The Russian invasion of Ukraine is threatening the global food security. How did we get to the point where wheat can be used as political leverage? For many farmers in Ukraine the war means daily danger to their lives whilst working on their fields, but the harvested grain rots away in their silos while starvation reigns in other parts of the world. Closed and bombed ports in Ukraine, destroyed bridges and mined fields are causing the fragile global supply chain to break down. On the stock exchanges, the price of wheat is reaching a historic high of over $500 per ton. As a result, more and more people in the countries of the global South have no access to food. A global downward spiral is looming.

Have you ever heard of Karl Lee, aka Li Fangwei? Investigators consider Karl Lee the most dangerous arms dealer in the world. His nickname? The Tailor, because he supposedly has a tailor-made technical solution ready for any application. Despite the efforts of many intelligence agencies, his network is still operating and he remains on the list of fugitives. And this at a time when missiles and nuclear warheads are becoming a tangible threat to humanity. Arms trade expert Philipp Grüll, Pulitzer Prize winners Frederik Obermaier and Bastian Obermayer tell the story of this phantom and of the secret hunt for him. They give unique insights into the world of intelligence services and diplomacy.

Life after Coal

- › 52' (ENG), 4 × 45' (GER)
- › 2022
- › Hoferichter & Jacobs, MDR, rbb, MDM

People change landscapes and upheaval changes people. In the German region of Lusatia, everything has been built on coal for decades - and in the future? A monstrous tour de force is being attempted in this crisis-ridden region where there seems to be nothing but failed livelihoods and coal. The aim is to become a model region for successful structural change - a model for the whole of Europe. Here, a post-fossil future is to become reality and the promises made to the young generation are to be kept. Many promises have been made for a better future - especially here in Lusatia. They have all been broken. Politicians may have forgotten this fact, but the local people have not.

Maastricht – The Treaty that changed Europe

- › 52' (ENG, GER)
- › Release: Autumn 2023
- › Hoferichter & Jacobs, arte, Deutsche Welle

It was the cornerstone for the freedom of movement and many other aspects of what Europe is today. On 7 February 1992, in the Dutch city of Maastricht, the European foreign ministers signed a groundbreaking treaty that came into force in November 1993. To this day, it continues to be the basis of our coexistence and economic activity in Europe and in each individual European member state. Hardly any aspect of everyday life is not influenced by this treaty in some way. The 30th anniversary provides the occasion for a very special journey once across the continent - from Portugal in the west to the Ukrainian border in the east.

In early 1933, Berlin is one of the most modern cities in the world, full of contrasts and life. Twelve months later: the city is in the thrall of one party and one Führer.

"Berlin 1933 – Diary of a Metropolis" tells the story of how Berlin, the vibrant hub of modernity, became Germany's staunch capital city in step with the Third Reich. Contemporary journals, letters and documents, photographs and film material, form a dense collage of the dynamics of this collectively organised disaster. We observe history taking its course, from the perspective of those who were living it, witnessing the building and unfolding calamity at the moment of its inception.

Today they are well over 80; back then, they were children. The last surviving contemporary witnesses tell their stories of flight and expulsion at the end of the Second World War. They camped out in the open, in the ruins of big cities, or along railway lines. Some lost their parents and wandered around as orphans. Some barely escaped death themselves, through luck, chance, or an unexpected helping hand. All of them are scarred by the events for the rest of their lives. Never before have they spoken so emotionally and unsparingly in public about their experiences in 1945. It is a pain that not only they themselves, but the whole of society has repressed for decades.

Nefertiti – To Whom Belongs This Beauty?

› 52' (ENG, GER)

› 2022

› Medea Film Factory, ZDF, arte

The bust of Queen Nefertiti is a magnet for every visitor to Berlin. On the Nile, however, the icon of Egyptian culture is sorely missed.

Formally, the ownership structure seems to be clear. The distribution of the finds was carried out strictly according to the law. But there are doubts about that. As early as 1924, the effigy of the Queen was reclaimed. The bust of Nefertiti exemplifies the question of where the future of such icons of world culture lies, in the field of tension between national property and truly shared heritage.

The first real city in the Americas was built 5000 years ago, 200 kilometres north of today's Peruvian capital Lima. Charismatic archaeologist Ruth Shady and her team explore this ancient cradle of Andean culture and discover a peaceful civilisation with an inventive spirit. Unlike many of its successor empires, Caral was successful without practising war and oppression. Women played a significant role in this. After 1000 years of prosperity, the desert metropolis was abandoned for reasons that have remained mysterious until now. Did ancient climate catastrophes seal Caral's downfall?

The Power of Celtic Women

› 52' (ENG, GER) › 2022 › doc.station, ZDF, arte

Around 2600 years ago, powerful women stood at the top of Celtic society in Heuneburg in southwestern Germany. With its distinctive culture and highly developed social structure, the settlement center was famous far beyond the borders of the Celtic empire. Women determined public life and participated in political power. Did women really call the shots in this trading centre of the early Iron Age in the 6th to 4th century BC? Recent archaeological finds manifest the outstanding position of female representatives in Celtic society.

Victorious Empires have long benefitted from the fruits of conquest, through territorial expansion, wealth accumulation, and cultural dominance. But they also enriched themselves through the acquisition or cultural appropriation of monuments, objects, and icons. At worst the spoils of war have also involved the pillaging, stealing or destruction of national treasures belonging to the conquered. Pillaging has ancient routes. We look at how and why ten of these famous icons of conquest were removed, what made them special and the debate on whether, when and how they should be returned.

From early on, humankind dreamed of being able to heal ailing bodies. However, from the misguided teaching of the humors by Hippocrates and his prescribed bloodletting to complex organ transplants and brain operations, this factual highlight takes us back to a time when we could only dream of complex operations and in which a few medical explorers changed the world with their experiments. Their stories throw us back into a historical society in which people often perished in agony from their illnesses. A time without hygiene, when amputations were routine, and often meant the certain death of the patient. We owe the end of this torment, and not least our current standard of living, to the discoveries of a few courageous pioneers.

Canada - Surviving the Wild North

› 50' (ENG, GER)

› 2022

› Terra Mater Studios, Brian Leith Productions, Impala Pictures, River Road Films

In Hudson bay in Canada's Far North, polar bears have learned to ambush beluga whales, which visit warm river estuaries to breed. A Canada lynx hunts a snowshoe hare in an age-old duel, a great grey owl uses its impeccable hearing to try and catch a red-backed vole, northern flying squirrels share their collective warmth to survive in tree holes, and a pack of wolves work together to strategically drive a herd of caribou from a frozen lake into deep forest snow. Survival in this land of boom and bust is all about helping one another, being totally in tune with the environment, and knowing how and when to act.

The Sharks of Hawaii

› 50' (ENG, GER)

› 2021

› Pangolin Productions, THIRTEEN Productions, Terra Mater Studios

Although created from the fiery rage of volcanoes, Hawaii is a paradise on Earth. A living Eden for all creatures, including one of the most misunderstood in the entire world – the shark. This film takes us from the remote reefs of the Hawaiian archipelago to the world-famous beaches of Waikiki. Our journey begins in deeper waters where humpback whales are on their annual migration from Alaska. Here, off Maui's coast, tiger sharks attack humpback whale calves. Rarely do sharks attack prey bigger than themselves. But recently, something has changed in the whale/tiger shark dynamic and the new-born whales are now considered fair game.

Great Lakes Untamed

› 3 x 50' (ENG, GER)

› 2022

› Terra Mater Studios, Oak Island Films, Merit Motion Pictures, TVO, Smithsonian Channel, Two Wise Monkeys Entertainment, arte, Doclights/NDR Naturfilm

From the shores of Lake Superior to Niagara Falls, millions of lives are shaped by the Great Lakes. In a world short of freshwater, they are one of our planet's most important ecosystems providing one-fifth of the world's fresh surface water. This series explores the beauty and history of this ever-evolving environment, and the unique behaviour of the animals that have adapted to its brutal winters and extremely unpredictable temperature changes in spring.

Episodes:

1. Source to Sea
2. The Big Freeze,
3. Marvels and Mysteries

Pelagos – The Mediterranean 4K Whale Sanctuary

› 52' (ENG, GER)
› 2023
› Millstream Films & Media, Genoa
Liguria Film Commission

A triangle of hope for the Mediterranean's Cetaceans lies between Corsica, Nice and Genoa, an area protected from dangerous fishing practices, where dolphins and whales thrive. Ninety thousand square kilometres of sea where whales and dolphins can prosper; one of the richest stretches of ocean in terms of biodiversity, but also some of the most highly populated coastal areas. The Pelagos Sanctuary offers refuge to marine mammals, a place where mid depth trawl nets are forbidden, and home to nearly nine thousand types of microscopic organisms that form the base of one of the world's richest food chains offering a daily spectacle of dolphins and whales in their thousands.

Portugal – Wild and Untamed

› 7 × 50' (ENG)
› 2023
› RTP, Wildstep Productions

Come and travel with us from the mountains of North Portugal to the southern beaches of the Algarve, and far out across the Atlantic Ocean to the islands of the Azores and Madeira, home to Europe's last laurel forests. This series reveals the amazing wildlife that still thrives in this beautiful but little-known country. Lying between Europe and Africa, the Iberian Peninsula is home to a wide variety of landscapes and spectacular endemic species, such as the Iberian lynx, Iberian wolf, and Iberian imperial eagle.

Episodes:

1. North
2. Centre
3. Lisbon
4. Alentejo
5. Algarve
6. Madeira
7. Azores

Baltic National Parks

› 4 x 52' (ENG, GER)

› 2023

› Kinescope Film, arte, Radio Bremen

Unspoilt nature, unique forests, lakes and marshland landscapes, and habitats for dozens of endangered animal and plant species - the national parks in the Baltic States have it all. The journey from the deep forests and large boulders of Estonia to the hot sulphur springs and vast moors of Latvia and the picturesque high dunes of Lithuania takes in some of the most beautiful intact natural spaces in the world. The documentary series explores four of the region's most important national parks, where flora and fauna can develop wildly and freely.

Episodes:

1. Soomaa National Park. Estonia
2. Gauja National Park. Latvia
3. Curonian Spit National Park. Lithuania
4. Lahemaa National Park. Estonia

A Butterfly's Tale

4K

› 50' (ENG, GER)

› 2022

› nautilusfilm, BR, arte

This film is a nature road movie. Embark on a search for one of the rarest butterflies in Europe.

The Danube clouded yellow is threatened by extinction throughout Europe. Only in Romania, extensive large pastures still exist, where cattle, water buffalo and horses graze in small numbers, maintaining a semi-open grassland interspersed with bushes and trees. A colourful, flowering biotope that is home to the Danube clouded yellow and numerous other endangered organisms. But social upheavals are also taking place in Romania, which will almost inevitably lead to the disappearance of extensive pastures, as in the rest of Europe.

The Kingdom of Jordan

- › 2 x 45' (ENG, GER)
- › 2022
- › Vincent Productions, NDR, arte

Between tradition and modernity, between wadis, desert and wonders of the world. We invite you to discover this treasure chest of the Arab world! Jordan's breathtaking landscapes, its biblical-archaic sites, its impressive nature, and its people are the focus of this 2-part documentary. The small kingdom rests like an oasis in the middle of the melting pot of the Middle East. With its liberal attitude, Jordan is a place of refuge for many people from the region. The kingdom is a land of exciting contrasts between the Red and Dead Seas in the west and the desert in the east. While young Jordanians open music clubs in Amman, Bedouins continue their traditional way of life.

Hidden Beauty of Spain

- › 4 x 52 (ENG, GER), 4 x 45' (GER)
- › 2022
- › Vincent Productions, ZDF, arte

Discover the country from its most beautiful sides: its rugged wilderness and golden beaches, rich flora and fauna and long-forgotten cultural treasures. Over 120 million tourists per year visited Spain in pre-pandemic times - apart from the mild climate, it's the beautiful beaches, magnificent cities and varied gastronomy that attract people to the country. This series shows that this is only a fraction of what the Spanish mainland has to offer: The focus is also on flora and fauna, and impressive landscapes beyond the tourist paths - and the people who passionately ensure that these grandiose environments are sustainably preserved or even improved.

Episodes:

1. The Mediterranean Coast, 2. Wild Andalusia,
3. The Green North, 4. In the Heart of Castilla-La Mancha

Asia - Secret Lives, Hidden Places Season III

4K

- › 3 x 45' (ENG, GER)
- › 2022/2023
- › Autentic, NDR, arte

Come with us on a unique journey to Southeast Asia - a region that could hardly be more diverse: floating villages on the Tonle Sap, wooden houses with roofs like ships in the highlands of Sulawesi, traditional and at the same time ultra-modern bamboo architecture in Bali. Honey hunters in search of the sweet nectar in Cambodia's jungle are just as daring as the bat guano collectors in the caves of the karst rocks in southern Sulawesi. It is the encounters with the local people that allow us to get very close to these dream destinations and their secrets.

Episodes:

1. Cambodia - Land of Enchanted Temples and Floating
2. Sulawesi - Death Cult and Tradition
3. Bali - Island of Gods and Demons

Meet the courageous female pilots who, despite stereotypes, conquer their freedom and fly small machines in the world's most remote regions. They fly doctors to remote areas of Alaska, train female pilots in Jordan, rescue mountaineers in the Himalayas, take part in daredevil aerobatic competitions in Norway and transport mine workers to the Australian outback. Who are these women who have the courage to fly a bush plane, live in remote areas and take care of their fellow human beings?

Episodes:

1. Across Alaska in a Cessna
2. Aerobatics over Norway
3. Bush Pilots in the Australian Outback
4. In an Airbus over Jordan
5. A Helicopter Heroine in the Himalayas

Reggae, Rum and Rastafari – A Jamaican Adventure

- › 45' (ENG, GER)
- › 2022
- › elb motion pictures, NDR

An exploration of Jamaican life, full of lessons about colonialism, breathtaking natural beauty and the cultural legacy of a proud nation. Many clichés surround the Caribbean state of Jamaica. In order to understand what the life on this island is all about, filmmaker Samuel Häde embarks on a journey outside of his comfort zone. In three months, he wants to circumnavigate the island and does not shy away from any new encounters. Whether on forays through the rainforest with an old-school Rastafarian or driving through the jungle on a motorbike, Samuel's western way of thinking is increasingly put to the test on this journey.

Vietnam – Swimming to Survive

- › 45' (ENG, GER)
- › 2022
- › Kornkonzept, ZDF, arte

About 16 people drown on average per day in Vietnam. But this is hopefully about to change. Vietnam is not only characterised by a long sea coast, but also by lagoons and villages surrounded by flooded rice paddies. For generations, this tropical water landscape has led people to live and work largely on the water, and still more than half of Vietnam's population cannot swim. Especially in rural areas, there are few opportunities to take swimming lessons. The film documents the many reasons for an intergenerational fear of water as well as the impact on families and the social fabric that the children trigger when they break the family spell of not swimming.

Trentino – Jewel of the Italian Alps

- > 45' (ENG, GER)
- > 2022
- > Lonamedia, arte

Trentino, in the north of Italy, is one of the most preserved areas of the Alps and home to a breathtaking natural scenery that is comparatively unknown. The unique mountain landscape makes the power of nature seem more significant with every meter of altitude. The people who live here feel a close connection to nature and wildlife. Their ambition is to protect the ecosystem. Our protagonists are proud of their land and have often been connected to Trentino for generations. The younger generation is more than ever committed to the green future, looking for ways to preserve this unique natural and animal world in its diversity and to make the best use of local resources.

Team Lioness – Kenya's First Female Massai Rangers

- > 45', 52' (ENG, GER)
- > 2022
- > Moers Media, arte, SWR

Leah and Purity are rangers. They track and protect the diverse wildlife that roams the Kenyan savannah of Amboseli National Park. However, their work doesn't stop there. They are often called to mediate in conflicts between Massai villagers and wild animals. But the two women also have to face another battle, as they fight against discrimination as Massai women. Nevertheless, their dedication has earned them respect, and their work has made a significant impact by reducing the number of wildlife killings. This is the inspiring story about two women who fight for coexistence of humans and animals and gain their own personal independence in this process.

Ireland – The Emerald Isle Rediscovered

- > 4 × 45' (ENG, GER)
- > 2022
- > Caligari, arte

The journey through Ireland begins in the Rugged North, in the middle of the rough and untamed nature. From there, we travel to the West, where the original way of life is preserved. From the traditional west, our route takes us to the popular south, with a milder climate and lush vegetation. We end in the lively East, where the contrast between today and the past is not only palpable, but also visible. On our journey we meet people who would never leave their homeland despite the harsh living conditions, we wander through spectacular landscapes, get an insight into the traditional ways of life and experience the four sides of Ireland in a completely new way.

Mysterious Neuschwanstein 4K Secrets of a Fairytale Castle

- › 45' (ENG, GER)
- › 2019
- › Loopfilm, BR

This is the untold story of the iconic fairytale castle. As famous as the Oktoberfest, Bavaria's Neuschwanstein Castle attracts more than 1.5 million tourists every year. Even Walt Disney used it as inspiration for his fairytale castles. The castle was built for Ludwig II, the Bavarian Fairy Tale King and is inseparably linked to his tragic fate. Exclusive interviews, breathtaking new film and animation sequences reveal the making of an unreal place, somewhere between kitsch and genius. Is it the work of a prodigal madman or the brilliant conception of a misunderstood genius? One thing is for sure, it is the childhood dream of a king fallen out of time.

Star Chasers of Senegal

› 50' (ENG, GER)

› 2022

› Terra Mater Studios, WGBH/NOVA

"Space is open for everyone; it belongs to everyone", says Senegalese astronomer, Maram Kaire. He believes science will change the fortunes of his emerging country, but first, he must convince powerful Muslim leaders to embrace modern science. An invitation to lead a team of international scientists on a data-collecting mission for NASA provides a perfect opportunity to demonstrate the value of scientific collaboration. If Maram and his team can help that mission succeed, he will have come one step closer to his goal – to build a space agency in Senegal. And he may soon find his country has ancient connections to space he never dreamed existed.

New Space – The Race Is Back On

4K

- › 52' (ENG), 45' (GER)
- › 2022
- › Autentic, Curiosity Stream, 3Sat

What was science fiction just a few years ago, is now a reality: private companies send astronauts, tourists and technology into space. The gold rush for technical supremacy in space has begun. The design hotel in space is already under construction, plant cultivation in space is being tested and DHL will soon be sending packages to the moon. Who will win this competition? We also exclusively accompany the lunar analogue mission "ARCHES" of the German Aerospace Center to the Sicilian Etna. This exciting science documentary shows the latest innovations in the race for the commercialisation of space and thus takes viewers into the future of humankind.

Hormones have no Gender

- › 52' (ENG, GER)
- › 2022
- › NFP neue film produktion, rbb, arte

Hormones control our bodies: they transform children into adults, guide our eating behavior, or influence our desire for love. Pubescent girls get pimples due to hormonal fluctuations, and menopausal women get hot flashes. But do hormones really control more than our bodily functions? Do they also determine our character? Recent studies show that hormones are often not the cause of gender-specific behavior, but rather that behavior influences hormones. Our culture and society, learning and experience influence our hormone output and demonstrably alter brain structures, and thus our behavior. How and in what context hormones act is much more complex than we thought. We uncover popular myths about men, women and their hormones.

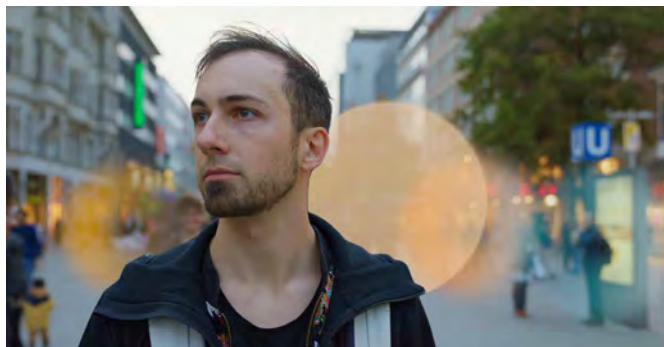

The Healing Power of Psychedelic Drugs – A Renaissance

- › 52' (ENG, GER)
- › 2022
- › micafilm, ZDF, arte

The number of patients diagnosed with mental illnesses, especially depression, is growing worldwide. There is an urgent need for new treatments. But substances that for many years were demonized bring hope: psychedelics. Recent studies already show that LSD and others have a therapeutic potential for mental illnesses and addictions. Will psychedelics be able to help those for whom nothing has helped? We follow patients who participate in one of the largest and most extensive studies on the therapeutic potential of psychedelics. We witness not only how a new drug is being sought out, but also how a new therapeutic approach could be a paradigm shift in psychiatry.

Synaesthesia – Life with Linked Senses

4K

› 52' (ENG, GER)
› 2023
› Kinescope, Radio Bremen, arte,
Nordmedia

There are people who perceive our world differently: A one is green, and A is purple, a red apple is C major, and a Riesling wine tastes blue. It sounds absurd but these perceptual phenomena are not pathological. They are a special ability called synaesthesia. Synaesthetes are "normal" people with an additional talent for the processing of sensory stimuli as well as perception and thinking. With the research of synaesthesia, neuroscientists hope to learn more about the organization and function of the brain and thereby gain new insights into the functioning of human consciousness.

42 – The Answer to Almost Everything

› 14 × 30' (ENG, GER)
› 2022
› mobyDok, HR, arte

With a wink to Douglas Adams' cult book "The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy", the show navigates through the big and small questions of humankind. Associative, original, outside the box and cleverly inspired, each topic is rolled out. 42 continues to ask about causes and solutions. Apparently light, but always with weight.

Episodes:

1. What if there was no fear?, 2. Do we all hear the same?, 3. Will we stop flying?, 4. Will we love robots?, 5. Should we dream more?, 6. Will we live forever?, 7. Will we actually travel to Mars?, 8. Where is the perfect energy source?, 9. Can we turn poop into gold?, 10. Why do we hate?, 11. How does time travel work?, 12. Do we live on a mushroom planet?, 13. Why are we so color-driven?, 14. Can we read minds?

Food Substitutes: The Better Alternative?

- › 52' (ENG, GER)
- › 2023
- › Autentic, BR, arte, ORF

Food - one of the most basic human needs. But food intake has long since ceased to serve only a full stomach. It has to be healthy, good for the environment and, last but not least, it has to serve our own social image. But which food can meet all these requirements today and which food products have perhaps had their day? More and more basic food is being replaced by alternatives: Burger patties made from pea protein instead of ground beef, coffee made from lupines, and fish from a 3D printer. But are these alternatives really better for us, healthier or better for our environment? And what does this change mean for our society?
